COULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

The editor met un old friend of his youth a few days ago, and learned that a daughter, born since the days of that friendship, is now a teacher in the public schools. A little inquiry elicited the fact that she had pretty thoroughly prepared herself for teaching, but her training, however good, had not made it an easy matter to secure a position,

The fact is, she had met with unusual difficulties-so unusual-at least it seemed so to the editor-as to justify an exposure of the method and an uppeal for a citizenship that will put the sacred interests of childhood beyond the reach of the grafter.

These are the facts as related by the father: He had gone into a certain district to see the trustee about the school for his daughter, but, before finding him, he met the teacher of the year before, a young man of several years' experience, but indifferent reputation as a teacher. He was told by this teacher that he need not go any further, for who ever taught that school would have to deal with him; that he did not intend to teach it himself, as he preferred as adjoining school that did not pay nearly so much, but that the teacher that secured the hetier paying school would have to pay him the difference in salaries, and that he had it fixed with the trustee so that he might consider the school his daughter's

SYNOPSIS.

Baraka, a Tartar girl, became snamored of a golden bearded atranger who was prospecting and studying harbs in the vicinity of her home in central Asia, and revealed to him the location of a mine of rubbes hearing that the stranger would prospecting and studying harbs in that vicinity of her homa in central Asia, and revealed to him the location of a mine of rubies hoping that the stranger would love her in return for her disclosure. They were followed to the cave by the girl's relatives, who blocked up the entrance, and drew off the water supply, leaving the couple to die. Baraka's cousin Saad, her betrothed, attempted to climb down a cliff overlooking the mine; but the traveler shot him. The stranger was revived from a water gourd Saad carried, dug his way out of the tunnel, and deparled, deserting the girl and carrying a bag of rubies. Baraka gathered ail the gems she could carry, and started in pursuit. Margaret Donne (Margarita da Cordova), a famous prima donna, becams sngaged in London to Konstantin Logotheti, a wasithy Greek tinanciar. Her intimats friend was Countese Leven, known as Lady Maud, whose husband had been kilied by a bomb in St. Peiersburg; and Lady Maud's most intimats friend was Rufus Van Torp, an American, who had become one of the richest men in the world. Yan Torp was in love with Margaret, and rushed to London as soon as he heard of her beirothal. He offered Lady Maud $5,000,000 for her petcharity if she would aid him in winning the singer from Logotheti. Baraka approached Logotheti at Versailles with rubles to sell. He presented a ruby to Margaret. Van Torp bought a yacht and sent it to Venice. His was visited by Baraka in male attire. She gave him a ruby after the American followed Margaret to the Bayrauth "Parsifal" festival, Margaret took a liking to Van Torp, who presented her with the ruby Baraka had given him, Count Kralinsky, a Russian, srrived at Bayreuth. Van Torp believed him to be the one Baraka was pursuing. Baraka was arrested in London on the charge of stealing from Pinney, a jewsior, the ruby she had sold to Logotheti. Two strangers were the thickes. Lady Maud believed that Kralinsky was the powd of the powd o

CHAPTER XII.

On the morning after the transaction last described. Van Torp's attention was arrested by a sensational 'seare-head' about a thief and a ruhy worth $50,000. Some disaffeeted colleague in London had known, or eleverly guessed, where the atone was that had been stolen from Mr. Pinney's, and had informed the police; the nlee-looking young fellow who apoke like an Eaglish gentleman had walked directly iato the arms of the plain-clothes man waiting for him on the pier ia New York, the stone had heen found sewn up in his waistcoat, and his pleasant eareer of liberty had ended ahruptly in a cell.

Mr. Van Torp whistled softly as he read the account a second time. This was precisely what had happened. When Mr. Van Torp opened his door, he came upon Margaret and point of going out for a walk, and a donna a telegram which she was reading aloud, so that the American could not help hearing her.

"'Cruislag till wanted,'" she read quiekly. "'Ruhy found. Address, yacht Erlnna, Naples."

She heard Van Torp close his door, and turning round she found herseif face to face with him. Her eyes were sparkling with anger. "Very sorry," he aaid. "I couldn't help hearing.'

"It's of no consequence, for I should have told you," Margaret answered hrlefly.

He argued well for himself from her tone and manner, but he chose to show that he would not force his company upon her just then, when she was in a visible rage, and inatead of stopping to exchange more words he passed the two ladies hat in haad, and howing rather low, after his manner, he weat quietly downstaira.

Margaret watched him till he disappeared.

They turned into the first deserted street they came to.

"I dare say I can give a guess at what it is," Van Torp answered grave-"I went to see him alone yesterday on purpose, hefore he started, and I must say, if it wasn't for the heard I'd feel pretty aure."

"He had a heard when I married him, and it was like that-just like that!

Lady Maud's voice shook audihly, for she felt cold, even in the sunshine.

"I dlda't know," Van Torp answered. 'That niters the case. If we're not mistaken, what can I do to help you? Let'a see. You only had that one look at hlm, through the window, is that so?"

"Yes. But the window was open, and it's not high above the ground, and my eyes are good. He took off his hat when he said good-hy to you, and I saw his face as distinctly as I see yours. And even if he turns out to be Leven, maybe we can manage something."

Lady Maud chose not to ask what her friend thought he could "manage:" for she had gianced at his face when he had spoken, and though it was half turned away from her, she saw his expression, and it would have seared a nervous person. She did not like him to be in that mood, and was sorry that she had brought him to it. But Mr. Van Torp, who was a atrong man, and had seen more than one affray in his ranching days, could not help thinking how uncommonly easy it would be to pick up Count Kralin sky and drop him overhoard on a dnrk night next week, when the Lancashire Lass would be doing 22 knots, and there might he a little weather about to drown the splash.

CHURCHES AND THE SALOON

Decrease in Number of Ohio Dram Shops Followed by Increase In Church Membera.

An analysis of the Presbyterian rhurches of Ohio in local option districts, by Rev. Frederick N. McMilian, chalrman of the committee on evangelical work of the synod of Ohio, shows a suggestive increase duduring the past two years in the numher of communicants, says United Presbyterian. From this report it appears that the decrease in the number of natioons is followed by s notahle increase in the membership of the churches. The reasons assigned are that when men are drinking they have no money to sufficiently clothe their wives and children that they may attend church with any dogree of self-respect. The families of drinkng men are discouraged and lack heart to appear in places of religious concourse. Mr. McMillan snys: "Reigion and whisky wifi not mix. Drinking men keep women and children away from church through shame, 'ear, poverty and want of heart. Many a woman says: 'I haven't the heart to go to church when my husband is drinking; he doesn't want us to go to church, and I will not go hecause my children and myself cannot dress as well as others." This want of heart is one of the most depressing coaditions that can hofall any one. The sense of disgrace. on account of being the companion of a drunkard, has kept many a wife shut up in her solljary home, nursing the vultures that are eating out her very heart. The consolations of the gospel would give her hope, but oh. the humility of it; the human nature of it! The dread of appearing where her very presence would he nn advertisement of her own humiliation no doubt accounts for many sorrowful wives fulling to identify themselves with any church.

It requires no argument to show that the average driaking man will not go to church. He takes no interest in such things. Ilis companiona are not there. There is little in common between him and those who worship God. He is at the extreme antipodes of society. His moral sense is benumbed, and the whole association of the saloon is to deepen and intensify opposition to religion and parity of life. When God plants a church the devil comes to plant a saloon nearby, if he can. He must hold his own converts, if he can, the mest win over some of the charch members, if he can. He must lay his flery skewers to hurn the feet of the children.

The way to destroy the laftuence of the devil over the lives of men and devil. The saloon system is the great not going to drink anything again, barrier between the drinker and the ever." church. its destruction means saaer think more of the things of the kingdom of God, and the things, too, that home. It gives his family an opportunity to take heart, to regain hope, and to look upon life with some degree of joyfulness. There is no doubt but there would be a greater disposition on the part of the drinker'a famlly, and the drinker himself, to attend the public worship of God if he apeat his money at home and for hia home. A reformed husband and father means aunshine to the home, and the grateful family will have an espeeial reason for expression of gratitude to God by a public profession of hia name. Every argument that supports the saloon opposes the church,

The other day there were statements published in the Twln Cities that the recent forest fires had done great good in clearing the land. Now, the original stories of the forest fires were printed the country over, and 90,000,000 of people got the idea from that that northern Minnesota was simply an unbroken stretch of labospitable woods.

What was done to counteract this feeling? Probably nothing. But a photograph of a stretch of the socniled "destructive" forest fires could by a little tact have found publication in a hundred newspapers if you sent with it the facts I have just related dressed in readable fashion. LIFT UP YOUR EYES AND LOOK

Text: In everything give thanks; for this is the will of God in Jesus Christ

By BISHOP WILLIAM A. QUAYLE

concerning you .- Thess. 5:18. Have we not set the song of the Christian life to much to the tune of difficulty, danger and sorrow? "In everything give thanks," I am pretty certain, will, in the multitude of instances, be translated as meaning that whatever difficulty or diatress enters your life, be of grateful mood Do not murmur. He glad through whatever roughness the water wear as we voyage across their uncertain billows.

I am certain of two things in this matter. First, that this is how this Scripture is pretty generally viewed, and second, thia is not what it does actually mean. It does mean that, but it means indefinitely more A farm is on a landscape; and he who confounds farm and landscape is not seeing things as they are. Difficulties are to be encountered and sorrows are to be met and they are to be met with the mood of manly and womanly resignation to the wide-working will of God. But that we sre to be grate ful for the clouds rather than the sunrise and the noon and the blessed open sky is to me absurd and a list less interpretation of the good God our Heavenly Father. To be glad on a holiday is as devout as to he sad on a funeral day. We shall not need to resot our estimates of God and his will eoneorning us before we are in harmony with his mood. He la the glad God of out-of-doors and the happy singing things whether they be hirds or children or women or strong men. This anaemle notion of religion is un wholesome because it is untrue. God gives no assent.

A good man and great sald this: "In everything give thanks." Nobody hut a good and great man could have sald it. The sentiment is like Mount Lyeabettus from whose top all of historled Greece lies under the eyes witbout straining an eyeball. All life lies at the base of a mount of vision and of praise like this: "In everything give thanks." . The fact which is meant to be lifted into light at this moment is that there is a devotional element in all things whatsoever. We say grace before meals, except we be heathen. We often say grace before labors and battles without or within and reading of books and taking of journeys and husking corn or going to picules or a stroll through sunburnt fields for the sheer love of the erisp grass under foot and the hot sky overhead.

We do narrow beyond the permission of God this thought of devotion or we must be at church or prayer you have secured a model housing meeting or at family prayer to be devotional. Those places and occupations are greatly good, but they do not monopolize the moods of devotion. The devotional frame is the deep eonbuilt that do not have adequate light sideration. Are we open to devotion to give thanks for the bird and a good way to give such thanks ia by listening to the volces. That is worth weighing. To love things enough to give things heed is n mood of gratitude, whereas not to care enough for things to notice them ls a first-class specimen of ingratitude townrd God and his doings. The cricket's chirp is a species of poetry which may well set the heart singing after its fashion, too. Sueb a little warmtb makes the cricket set bis heart to song. Were we as good at the voicing of our gratitude as the cricket of the hearth, what a shout of chorusing would the great God hear from men. The religious nature is wiser and wider than many religious folk are given to supposing. Christianity is "Thank God!" generosity. often have I found my own given to that gust of gratitude-"thank God!" And I am not slow to believe God hears such prayer and smiles with gladness to hear it. Why should we not give thanks for the finding of a wild flower or the striking gracefulness of a child at play, or the toss of apple branches lit with bloom, or the blue jny's note with ita musicai unmusicality.

No, secularities are just theme for praise and prayer. We have no eall to ask for things for which we have not call to answer to God in spontaneous words of thanks. "I thank you" is a phrase which the debonair uso frequently. Courtesy is a good habit for n body's own sake. To be genteel is a soul-instinct of fineness, and if a mnn or a womnn lived alone and broke bread with himself, (nl though auch a way of living is not necessary or to be desired. If one is alono and has no relatives, then should such a one borrow somo child, or, better, some homeless body, somebody human, not feilne nor canine, to keep alive the humaneness in one'a own soul), be would do well to say: "I thank you" when he passes food to himself, for so would the method of good manners he kept alive and the social impulse would be hearkened to "Father, I thank thee," says the Christ; and "in everything gice thanks," says his brainlest follower. And for one I will take this advice and will find provision for devotion in everything, books, folks, church, labor, song, tears and cares. And for Father of our Lord Jesus Christ will Saviour and my King.

Expenses, Regulations, Opening Days.

Berea College is not a money-making institution. All the money received from students is paid out for their henefit, and the School expends on an average upon each student about fifty dollars a year more than he pays ia. This great defielt is made up by the gifts of Christian and patriotic people who are supporting Berea in order that it may train young mon and women for lives of usefulness.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with eareful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the hest families and are earnest to do well and improve. For any who may bo siek the College provides doctor and nurse without extra charge.

Ail except those with parents in Berea live lu Collego buildings, and assist in work of boarding hall, farm and shops, receiving valuable training, and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except ia winter it is expected that all will have a chance to carn a part of their expenses. Write to the Secretary before coming to secure employment.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for elothing, laundry, postage, books, etc., vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the hest, but as students must attend classos regardless of the weather, warm wraps und underclothiag, umbrellas and overshoes, are necessary. The Co-operative Store furnishes books, tollet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at east.

LIVING EXPENSES are really below cost. The College asks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for eleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week in the fall, and $1.50 in winter. For room, furnished, fuel, lights, washing of hedding, 40 cents n week in fall and spring, 50 cents in winter.

SCHOOL FEES are two. First a "Dollar Denosit," as guarantee return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "incidental Fee" to help on expenses for care of school build-Ings, hospital library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers-all our instruction is a free gift). The lacidental Fee for most students is $5.00 a term, $6 in Academy and Normal, and $7.00 in Colieglate courses.

PAYMENT MUST BE IN ADVANCE, incidental fee and room rent by the term, board by the half term. Installments are as follows:

50 Per Cent Better

"I have used less than one bottle of Cardul," writes Mrs. Gertrude Ward, of Rushville, Neb., "and am feeling fifty per cent better than when I began taking it.

"Before taking Cardul, I had suffered with female trouble, for eight years. My greatest trouble was Irregularity. I also suffered with severe pains, every month, but now I am greatly improved and will recommend Cardui to all my suffering friends."

The Woman's Tonic

The rare medicinal lierbs of Cardul are imported by the manufacturers direct from Europe and are not to be found in any other medicine.

These ingredients are what give Cardul Its superiority, a female medicine and tonic, over any other medicine. For over 50 years Cardul has been the favorite wom-an's medicine. The ladies like It, because It is so easy to take, so gentie, so safe, so reliable in its results, and they have faith in its curative tonic powers, because of the thousands of other ladies it has helped. Try It today.

the Issue between the Standpat Interests and the insurgents in the Republican party.

The Campaign Letter.

But just at this juncture another determining factor entered into the situation. It was the campaign lotter of Mr. Taft. in it he scknowledged that the Payne-Aidrich Tariff is not a perfect law necessarily, and advocates the change, at the direction of the Tariff commission, of such schedules as may prove unjust and discriminating. This was a master stroke, a concession in a way to the insurgents; but along with this he does not hesitate to call attention to the immense amount of good legislation effected by the Congress during the two years of his administration; and he closes with a plea for harmony that has aiready had a very salutary effect.

The Plea.

flow much better it will be, is his point, to get together before the election and insure the administration another Republican Congress in order that it may continue to fuifil its pledges, and perfect what it has done than to have the wheels entirely blocked by a Democratic majority, and as an interesting speaker and an possibly the entire program knocked sdvocate of Woman Suffrage, has into smitherings. Which is the better? A tariff that is restly producing enough revenue to meet the needs of the government, and a commission piedged to recommend the revision of any discriminatory and unjust schedules, thus taking the tariff out of politics, or a new tariff war between the parties, stripped of every vestage of any thing and the panie and financial losses Incident thereto?

No Yielding in Primaries.

This does not mean that there is much concession of principle as yet. The struggle is still intense in the primaries. The Standpat interests are yielding only with dogged sullenness when they yield at all. The enthuslasm is on the other side. The insurgents are confident of ultimate victory. They are not out of the party. They are striving for the mastery in the party. They are the sait of the party that has not lost its savor, and Mr. Roosevelt, the biggest grain of salt in the whole body politic, is with them. What did the victory in Kansas mean if not that the party was takthe victory in lowa, the victory in California, the victory in Wisconsin-LaFoliette winning more than four to one, the downing of Burrows in Michigan, and the ascendency of the Insurgents even in New Hampshire?

This means Taft in 1912, other wise Roosevelt. in either case, good and well.

But we want to know what the New York convention is going to do, and Maine, whose election returns are now due, will show us which way the wind is blowing "down east."

News from Maine.

Which way is the wind blowing 'down East?" Rooseveltward. The Democratic candidate for Governor was elected by a large majority, and the legislature will probably be Deniocratic, and that will mean that Senator Haie's successor may be a Demoerat. CAR FERRY PERE MARQUETTE SINKS TO BOTTOM OFF LUDINGTON.

THIRTY-THREE ARE SAVED

Believed That 28 Freight Cars Becams Loose and That Water Relisd into Vessel's Stern During Heavy Ses.

Milwaukee.-Twenty-nine lives were lost in Lake Michigan when the Pere Marquette's car ferry, No. 18, sank from unknown cause twenty miles off Sheboygan, Wls., Friday.

It is declared one of the worst ma rine disasters in the history of Lake Michigan navigation. The boat was valued at $400,000, and the cargo, which included thirty-two loaded cars, estimated to be worth $150,000.

At the sacrifice of two of her own seamen, and after terrible hours of struggle the steel car ferry Pere Marquette No. 17, which went to the assistance of No. 18, reached this port with three dead, and twenty-nine survivors of the crew of her sister ship.

Twelve of the rescued were in one of the ship's boats, the remainder were clinging to the wreckage or floating about buffeted by the debris.

The catastrophe occurred approximately thirty miles off from Port Browne jumped from his chair, Washington. No. 17, bound from Mil- | selzed Attorney Erbstein around the waukee for Ludington, reached the wreck just as the No. 18 sunk out of aight. Several mlies away a lone boat was floundering in the surge and swell of the waves, and on all sides were the shrieks and screams of the poor wretches soaked through and through with the almost ice-cold water and gripped by the strong winds. Only a few had time to dress.

The Pere Marquette No. 20, out from Ludington bound for Mllwaukee and manned by a crew most of whom come from the same city as those on the sunken vessei, was the third craft to reach there. Just prior to its ar- ant many thousands of dollars. rival the fishing tug Tesier, out from

ILLINOIS LEGISLATOR FREED OF BRIBERY CHARGE.

Jury Out Over 21 Hours and Verdict is Greeted With Cheers-Emotion Overcomes Defendant.

Chicago.—The jury in the second trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, leader of the minority in the lilinois legislature, charged with brihing Representative Charles A. White to vote for Senator Lorimer, returned a verdict of not guilty in the criminal court Friday. In the first trial of Browne the jury disagreed.

The speedy verdict was a surprise to the many who had watched the progress of the second trial and had feared that a repetition of the tedious deliberations of the first jury would close the case. The verdict was returned before Judge Kersten after the jury had deliberated a little over twenty-one hours.

Altogether eight ballots were taken The first poll showed them 8 to 4 for acquittal and several ballots were taken thereafter with the same result. Then there was a slight change to 9 to 3. Later the vote was i1 to 1. and on the eighth poil the full 12-to-0 vote was recorded.

As the words "not guilty" fell from the cierk's lips a cheer went up. Scenes of confusion followed: It was with difficulty that the bailiffs restrained the crowd. It was then that neck and they embraced each other. A moment later Browne was torn from his counsel by his friends. They pashed him around the room in almost a frenzy to offer their congratulations. Browne then tried to reach the jury box to thank the jurors.

"I thank-" he began, but he did not finish, his emotions overcoming him. Tears ran down his face.

The second Browne trisl started be fore Judge Kersten August 1. It was fought stubbornly by both sides every moment and cost the county and the interests back of the defend-

In marine circles it is believed that the string of twenty-eight cars became loose as the ferry was buffeted ahout and that the water rolled into the vessel's stern, which is wide open. This seems plausible in view of the fact that the sea was rolling from the north, the most dangerous on Lake Michigan, while the steamer was heading southwest by south.

OVATION GIVEN TO PINCHOT

Ex-Forester is Made the Object of a Big Demonstration at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Mian.-Before the conservation congress here Wednesday STANDING OF BALL CLUBS Senator Beverldge in an eloquent speech argued for national control of conserving the natural resources of the country, while James J. Hill spoke squarely against that idea.

Gifford Pinchot received an ovation that furnished the most dramatic moment of the congresa. The former forester, the object of a wild demonstration by the audience, stood with tears streaming from his eyes until the outhurst of cheers had subsided and the spectators were seated.

Just what Senator Beverldge was trying to say compilmentary to Mr. Pinchot was drowned in the roar that rose the moment the trend of his remarks became apparent.

"Gifford Pinchot," aaid the speaker, and the outhurst started. It grew uatil every one was yelling and the whole house was on its feet waving hats and handkerchiefs.

Senator Beveridge had no sooner re tired than cries of "Piachot! Pinchot!" rang through the house. lle was dragged forth by President Baker. liis voice shook as he spoke.

"It is magnificent," he said, "to hear claimed as has been done here. Conservation has won out. I thank you." Senator Beveridge sounded his keyacte in the statement that this is one invitation to you for this evening is nation, not forty-slx nations.

Colonsi Demands That Hamilton Club Withdraw invitation-Tsiegram is Sant Asking Senstor to Be Absent From the Dinner.

Freeport, ill.-Colonel Roosevelt and Senstor Lorimer did not sit at the same hanquet table Thursday night. While here Mr. Roosevelt poeltively refused to attend the dinner given by the Hamilton club at Chicago if the junior senator from lilinois was to be present.

A committee of 16 members of the Hamilton ciuh, headed hy ex-Judge John 11. Batten, came to Freeport from Chicago in a special car and met Colonel Roosevelt, who attended the county fair here. They came to make arrangements for the dinner. The committee men met him at the fair grounds and the colonel at once asked who was to attend the dianer,

"Is Speaker Canaon to be there?" he asked "Yes," Mr. Batten replied. "He accepted the invitation."

"How about Senator Lorimer?" he asked. "Senator Lorimer is a member of the club," he was told. "He has accepted an invitation to the dinner." 'Then I must decline to go," aaid the colonel. He added that he would feel the same about the presence of Seaator Lorimer as though members of the liliaois legislature, who are involved in the graft investigation, hould be present at the dinner. The members of the committee told the colonel that they would go back to Chicago and inform Senator Lorimer of his views. "No," Colonel Roosevelt replied. "Sead him a telegram, telling him that I will not attend the dinner if he is there." President Batten consented to withdraw the invitation. The telegram was written and submitted to Colonel Rooseveit. He approved it, and Mr. Hntten took the following message to the telegraph office:

"To William Lorimer, Chicago: Colonel Roosevelt positively declines to sit at the same table with you. Our therefore hereby withdrawn.

A Crashing Report, a Swaying and Tossing of Solid Rock, a Noise Like That of Artillery and the Cries of Men Tell tha Story.

New York,-Ten men were crushed to death and nino were injured, several of them mortally, by the fall of hundreds of tons of psilsade rock through the broken roof of the old Erie railroad tunnel, Jersey City, The dead and injured formed part of a gang of 28 hard rock men, who were removing the mountain of stone shove the tunnels to transform them into open "cuts," as was recently completed on other tracks adjacent.

Somehody either binndered in blastlng, which weakened the brick roof of the tuhes, or there was an unsuspected fault in the rock.

Twenty-cight men were employed in cleaning up the debris left by the drilling and blasting of the day before. Suddenly along the line where the men were at work there came first a crashing report, then a swaying and tossing of the solid rock, a thunderous report, like that of artillery, and, after that, there was a churning and tossing of men as first the center sank and piece by piece great chunks of rock, some weighing tons, feil from the sides, grinding and crushing as they struck.

lieneath this double avalanche were the men struggling, crawling, grasping at the air, crying aloud. Nine of them lived to tell of it, but only in vague, heart-breaking impressions. The majority of the nine knew they had been on the crest of waving rocks and the next Instant they were over on the open tracks of the Erle railroad, 40 feet below, hruised and lying at the end of the cut, stunned or clinging to the jutting rocks which had not failen by some miracle.

In the New York Evening Post of Friday, August 26, there appeared in an editorial article the following statements:

" 'I will make the corporations come to time,' shouted Roosevelt to the moh. But did he not really mean that he would make them come down with the cash to elect him, as he did before? For a man with Mr. Roosevelt's proved record it is simply disgusting bumbug for him to rant about the corporations upon whose treasurers he fawned when he was president and wanted their money for bis campaign. Does he think that nobody has a memory which goes back to the ilfe incurance investigations, and that everyhody has forgotten the $50,000 taken from widows and orphans and added to Theodore Itooseveit's political corruption fund? Did he not take a big eheck from the Beef trust, and glad to get it? And now he is going to make the corporations coms to time! One can have respect for a sineere radical, for an honest fanatic, for aa agitator or jeveler who believes that he is doing God's will; hut it is hard to he patient with a man wbo talks big but acts mean, whose eye is always to the main chance politically, and who lets no friendship, no generosity, no principle, no moral scrupie stand for a moment between himself and the goal upon which he has set his overmastering smbition.

"This champion of purity, this roaror for political virtue, is the man who was for years, when in political life, hand in glove with the worst political corruptionists of his day; who toaded to Platt, who praised Qusy, who paid court to Hanna; under him as presidest Aidrich rose to the height of his power, always on good terms with Reosevelt; it was Roosevelt who, in 1906, wrote an open letter urging the re-election of Speaker Cannon, sgainst whom mutterings had then begun to rise: it was Roosevelt who asked Harriman to come to the White House secretly, who took bis money to buy votes in New York, and who afterwards wrote to "My Dear Sherman"yes, the same Sherman-reviling the capitalist to whom he had previously written saying: "You and I are practical men."

The Evening Post is not in itself sufficiently important to warrant an answer, but as representing a class with whose hostility it is necessary to reckon la any genuine movement for decent government, it is worth while to speak of it. There are plenty of wealthy people in this country, and of intellectual hangers-on of wealthy people, who are delighted to engage in any movement for reform which does not touch the wickedness of certain great corporations and of certain men of great wealth. People of this class will he in favor of any aesthetic movement; they will favor any movement against the small grafting politician, against the grafting labor leader, or any man of that stamp; but they cannot he trusted the minute that the reform assumes sufficient dimensions to jeopardize so much of the established order of things as gives an unfair and improper advantage to the great corporation, and to those directly and indirectly responsive to its wishes and dependent upon it. The Evening l'ost and papers of the same kind, and the people whose views they represent would favor attacking a gang of small bosses who wish to coutrol the Republican party; but they would, as the Evening Post has shown, far rather see these small bosses win than see a movement trlumph which aims not merely at the overthrow of the small political boss, but at depriving the corporation of its improper influence over politics, depriving the man of wealth of any advantage heyond that which belongs to him as a simple American citizen. They would be agsinst corporations only after such corporations had been caught in the crudest kind of criminality.

I have never for one moment counted upon the support of the Evening Post or of those whom it represents in the effort for cleanliness and decency within the Republican party, hecause the Evening Post would support such a movement only on condition that it was not part of a larger movement for the hetterment of social conditions. But this is not all. In the struggie for honest politics there is no more n place for a flar than there is for the thief, and in a movement designed to put an end to the dominion of the thief but little good can be dorived from the assistance of the finr. Of course objection will he made to my use of this language. My answer is that I am uaing it merely scientifically and descriptively, and hecause no other terms express the facts with the necessary precision. In the article in which the Evening Post comes to the defense of those in present control of the Itepublican party in New York state, whom it has affected to oppose in the past, the Evening Post through whatever editor personally wrote the article, practised every known form of mendacity. Prohably the Evening Post regards the decalogue as outworn; hut if it will turn to it and read the eighth and ninth commandments, it will see that hearing false witness is condemned as strongly as theft itself. To take but article, the Evening Post says: "It New York, and who afterwards wrote to 'My Dear Sherman'-yes, the sams Sherman-reviling the capitalist to whom he had previously written, say. open insrket for week were 16 sales 56 hinds; market quiet. VAST AND HIGH AVERAGE est and basest ile when he wrote the sentence, for he quotes the same letter in which I had written to Mr. Harrlman as follows: 'What I have to say to you can be said to you as well after election as before, hut I would like to see you some time hefore I write my message." I am quoting without the letter before me, but the quotation is substantially, if not verbally, accurate. That statement in this letter to Harriman is of courss on its face absolutely incompatible with any thought that I was asking him for campaign funds, for it is ot course out of the question that I could teli him equaliy well what I had to say after election if it referred in any possible way to getting money hefore election. This is so clear that any pretense of misunderstanding is proof positive of the hasest dishonesty in could only have been made hy a man elections. who, knowing the facts, deliberately intended to pervert them. PLACE WHERE ZOLA RESTS

Great Writer's Remains Lie in the Panthson, the Terrestrial Valhalia of the French.

Psris.—Years of effort misde Emile Zola a great writer and earned for him the prospective honor of a grave in the Pantheon, the Westminster abhey of France. One little letter took him that privilege. Then a court decision made it possible ten years after the letter was written for his body to rest with France's immortal ones under the legend on the Pantheon's dome: "To Great Men, the Grateful Fatherland."

Zola dled ln 1902 from accidental suffocation by cosi gas escaping from a patent bester. Literary glory came to Zoia through his great works, "La Sebacie," "La Fortune de Rougon,"

The Pantheon, Paris.

"L'Assommoir," "Dr. Pascsl," "Parls," "Lourdes," "Rome," and "Fecundity. The "J'accuse!" letter on the Dreytwo case set him back ten years. In mis letter the writer accused army and civil officials of criminally conniving to place the guilt of treasonable correspondence on Captuln Dreyfus. The government had Zola tried and sentenced on defamation ebarges to serve one year in prison. Zois was assaulted in the streets of Paris hy his countrymen. Four years after his death, the highest court of France deelded that Dreyfus was not guilty and Zolas "J'aceuse!" letter, when read in the courtroom by Dreyfus's lawyer, was applauded and cheered. So Zola, dead, has received honors which Zola, living, was refused.

The Puntheon'ls the terrestrial Vaihalla of the French. It is a great cross-shaped basilica, with a dome nearly 300 feet high. It stands on a hill on the Latin quarter side of the Seine on the site of a Christian church hullt 1,200 years ago. As most living Frenchmen erave the Cross of the Legion of Honor or admission to the French academy, so most Frenchmen iong for that greatness which demands a burial in the Pantheon. And Zola has it.

The drum used by the Batetela for sending messages in this manner is first cut out from one inrgo solld piece of hard wood. Its shape, as may be seen in the illustration, is quite peculiar and must require considerable skill in the fashioning, when one considers the lack of proper tools among these tribes. Still more difficult is the finishing of the drum's interior, for it has to be hollowed out and all the work is done through the long narrow opening which shows at the top. The shape inside follows that outside and much patience and care are required in attaining that perfection necessary to success in the completed instrument. The least check or split in the wooden waiis of thia instrument would seriously impair if it did not destroy its tragedy.

The sticks used in beating this peculiar drum have at their ends s knob of rubber. To send a message the heater will ascend a bill in the evening when the air is still and offera least resistance to the outward speeding sound waves from bis drum. The aound created is very rough when near by. Three distinct sounds or notes can be produced from each side of this drum, according to where it is beaten. These are used to form a syllable alphabet, which permits the natives to transmit measages, no matter how complicated they may be

MOST IMPORTANT NEWS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF KENTUCKY

L. & N. Seek To Prevent Officials Reducing Rate on Grain,

Frankfort.—Suit for sn injunction to prevent the Kentucky Rallroad commission from putting into effect a chosen secretary to succeed W. J. rate of 5 cents on grsin out of Louisville on the Springfield and Lebanon branches of the L. & N. railroad was filed here. Later, at Maysville, a temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Cochran, and the next move will be an effort to obtain a permacent Injunction.

and fined in the Federal court in Louisville for charging 10 cents on grain shipped from points in other states, from Louisville to points on the L. & N. The rate at that time was 5 cents on local businesa and it was charged that there was no Interstate tariff justifying the rate. The L. & N. confessed judgment and then boosted the local rate out of Louisville to cents to correspond with the through rate. The railroad commisslon ordered that the rate be put back to 5 cents on complaint of the Greenbrier Distilling company and 20 other distilleries The L. & N then sued the railroad commission to test the right of the commission to enter the order to put into effect the old rate. The case will be hard fought.

At a meeting of the commission reduction in the rate of steam coal from Beattyville to Versailles was ordered. The present rate, wnich was complained of as being excessive, was $1.23 a ton. The commission directed that the legal rate be 90 cents a ton The complaint on which the reduction was ordered was made by the Versallies Electric Lighting company against the L. & N. railroad. The case has been before the commission for several months and the complaint has been carefully considered.

TO ERECT SLAB IN MEMORY. Piace Where General Fell Will Sea Dedication October 10.

Somerset.-On October 10 there will he erected a beautiful marble slab on the spot where Gen. Zollicoffer, the noted Confederate general, fell in the battle of Mill Springs on January 19, 1862. The dedicatory services will be in charge of Col. Bennett II. Young, of Louisville, who is at the head of Johanneshurg, La.-Many strange the work of having the spot where tribes dwell in the interior of Africa Gen. Zollicoffer fell marked by a beau-> ed every year in bonor of the dead hero. The occasion of the dedication of lng to the official census of the varithe memorial slab will be one of great our districts it naturally will require war veterans from different parts of the country. Col. Bennett II. Young took this matter up some yeara ago, and had W. G. Trimble, of this place, deed nway a plot of ground for this purpose, Trimble having been the owner of the ground on which the battle was fought. Several efforts have been made by congressmen from the Eleventh district to have congress make appropriation for the building of a fine turnplke from Somerset, the nearest rallroad point to the Mill Springs hattle o'clock p. m. on September 13 for the field and the National cemetery.

KILLED IN PITCHED BATTLE.

Three Men, Apparently Friendly, Get into Fight With Fatsi Result.

Harlan.-In a pitched battle hetween Stephen Ledford, Carter Unthank and Thomas Noc, jr., at Wallins Creek, ford was shot and instantly killed, rebody. Carter Unthank was abot in the upper part of hia left thigh and died three hours lnter.

These three persons had been together nil day and seemed to be on excellent terms. Late in the evening they left Wallins Creek poatollice and started up Terry's creek, when they nrrived at a point in the road where the affray began, Thomas Noe, jr., was arrested by Sheriff J. S. Kelly, who left here for that place as soon aa he received intelligence of the

DRY DOCKS FOR PADUCAH.

Paducah.-l.umber has been ordered from Washington State by the Ayer & Lord Tie Co. for a set of dry docks, which will be hullt and operated here. There will be four sections, and they will cost about $12,000. About 50 ship earpenters and ahip canlkers will be employed. The company will repair

Ita own boats and barges. Henry A. Petter, who was president of the old Dry Docka Co., is at the head of another company, which has MAY APPEAL CASE, Jailers' Association Selected Committee to Confer With Attorneys.

London.-The Kentucky Jallers' association held an interesting two days' session. This was the fourth annual convention and was the largest in attendance ever held in the state. The next meeting will be held at New Castle, Henry county, the first Tuesday in September, 1911. Jailer James E. Pigg. of this city, spared no pains in seeing that the visitors were entertained. At the opening of their meeting Circult RAILROAD COMMISSION ENJOINED Judge William Lewis delivered an intereating aud appropriate address of welcome.

W. S. Fltzgerald, of Danvlile, jailer of Boyle county, was re-elected president of the association for the third time; J. S. Muliins, of Winchester, was Ahern, of Lexington.

A per diem committee was selected to confer with attorneys with a view to taking to the court of appeals the decision of the attorney general to the effect that the present incumbents are not entitled to the increased per diem of 75 cents as provided in the bili pass-The L. & N. recently was indicted ed by the last Kentucky legislature.

WILL SOON COMPLETE PIPE LINE.

Titles to Rights of Way Must First Be Proven.

Louisville.-Indgo Garrett S. Wall, of Maysville, a member of the state hoard of control of charitable institutions and in charge of the details incident to the extension of the pipe lino from the Louisville reservoir to tho Lakeland asylum, was here for several days looking after the details of the extension. It was the purpose of the board to have the work completed by the first of October, but owing to a few delays in securing rights of way it likely, will be nearer the middle of October before the work is completed. Judge Wall sald no objection had been raised by residents along the route, but that all the obstacles encountered had been in the proving of all of the titles, which necessarily must be done before the rights of way can he obtnined. As goon as all the titles have been proved and the rights of way secured the board will let a contract for the laying of the pipe line and the work itkely will be completed within two weeks after the contract is awarded.

WILL HAVE MEETING SOON.

Redistricting Committee Must Have Figures Before Taking Action.

Louisville.-James E. Stone, chief clerk of the house of representatives of the Kentucky general assembly, and secretary of the redistricting committee, appointed by the last legislature, said that while there had been no call issued for a meeting of the redistricting committee one likely will be issued within the next few days. He said that it would be impossible for the committee to take action in regard to the redistricting of the state until after all the census figures of the state have been obtained, but that it would be necessary for the committee to hold a meeting soon to establish beadquarters.

The committee is empowered to redistrict the state in all of the congressional, appellate court, senatorial, legislative and indicial districts and as the redistricting must be done accordinterest, and will be attended by noted much time and careful thought on the part of the members of the committee.

POSTMASTERS TO MEET.

Will Convene at Louisville September 13, 14 and 15.

It has been decided by the Postmasters' association, which includes presidential offices, and the State League of Postmasters of Third and Fourtb class offices, to hold a joint meeting this year in Louisville, September 14 and 15. The league will 'meet at 2 purpose of transacting such business ns pertains to league affairs only.

Ou September 14 and 15 tho association and league will bold a joint meeting for the purpose of discussing postni affairs.

There will ho several representatives of the postoffice department present to give instructions. The new money order and registry systems will he fully explained. Every postmaster eight miles west of here. Stephen Led- should attend, as they will learn more than they would in yeara at home, eelving eight revolver wounds in his and many things they never would learn otherwise.

> Georgetown.-The Cincinnati pike is blocked for general travel, owing to an odd accident, and a noted bridge will probably be swept away. The ponderous engine and rock roller, helonging to Mosa & Lancaster, contractors, after trying for a month to get to their destination, fell through Big Eagle bridge, and now, aupported hy a few heavy timbers, stands 30 feet above the creek.

> Covington.-The police received a long-distance telephone message from Lexington, Ky., aaying that George Brisby, 18, a Covington boy, had escaped from the reform school at Greendale. Brishy comes from a good family, and efforts have been made to have the lad pardoned.

Louisville.-A verdiet of self-defense was returned by the coroner's jury in the inquest into the death of Joseph E. Lippa, who was shot and kliled hy been organized to operate a docks his wife, Mrs. Francis Lipps, at the latter's home.
